The Polite Use of the Ether.

By J. A. FLEMING, D.Sc., F.R.S.

THERE has been much discussion lately in wireless broadcasting circles on the increasing "oscillation nuisance," as it is technically called. This may be explained in plain language as follows: Let us suppose you, good reader, are devoted to classical music and that you see from your Radio Times that at a certain hour a trio of violin, cello, and piano will give us some sonatas by classical composers. You adjust your receiver, prepare to listen and enjoy a treat. Hardly have the first delicious opening bars fallen on your ears when you are horrified by hearing a series of loud squeaks or whistles or sounds like the chirping of crickets. Again and again your pleasure is marred by this dreadful interruption, and at last you put down your 'phones with disgust at the destruction of your hopes and delights. The same kind of trouble may and does happen when some eminent speaker, say the Prince of Wales or Prime Minister, is addressing the public.

What, then, is the reason for this, and how can it be prevented?

It is due to the fact that certain kinds of valve receivers can not only absorb ether waves sent out by the broadcasting station and convert their energy into sound, but can, if used in a certain way, emit or send out ether waves which fall on other people's aerials and create these objectionable sounds in their telephones. In short, these types of valve receivers are like animals which can not only listen and hear, but can bark or chirp as well. This cannot be done with a crystal receiver, and it does not easily happen with a valve receiver used only with a frame aerial.

Hence, when you are annoyed by these distressing sounds whilst listening, you can be fairly sure that somewhere in your neighbourhood there is a person with an outdoor aerial and a valve receiving set which is improperly or carelessly used, and is of a kind to create electric waves as well as pick them up.

How, then, does it happen that certain receivers can do this?

To answer this question we must explain briefly what is meant by "reaction" in a wireless valve receiver. If you look at a wireless valve, you will see that inside the bulb there are three things; first, a metal filament which is made red hot by the battery current. Then around this filament there is a spiral of wire called the grid, and around that again a metal cylinder called the plate. In the receiver the plate is connected to the filament by a circuit which contains the high tension battery and also certain coils of wire. The grid is also connected to the filament by another circuit containing a coil of wire.

If the grid coil and the plate coil are brought too near each other, the result is to produce a rapid flutter in the electric current flowing through the valve which is communicated to the aerial wire, and produces a set of powerful electric waves sent out by it which disturb other receivers.

In a wireless receiving set this reaction can be avoided if the grid circuit is not coupled too closely to the plate circuit. The reason the makers of wireless receivers introduce this reaction coupling is because when the coupling of the coils is just close enough not to produce self-oscillation, the receiver merely becomes more sensitive to the broadcast waves.

It requires a certain amount of skill, then, to use this reaction as to get the best out of a receiving set without creating oscillations and making oneself a nuisance to other people.

The whole matter may, therefore, be summed up as follows:

1. Disturbing sounds such as squeaks or whistles heard in any listener's telephone are due to vagrant electric waves sent out from some other listener's receiving set, or they may be due to the disturber's own set.
2. They originate only in valve receivers which are so constructed as to have adjustable reaction in their circuits.
3. They are due to ignorance or carelessness on the part of the possessors of such sets, or to want of consideration for other persons on the part of the users.

The possessor of a multi-valve receiving set capable of reaction and therefore of creating disturbance in the ether is like the owner of a large and powerful motor-car. The said owner has the power to run down and injure smaller cars and foot passengers and the driver, therefore, has to exercise exceptional vigilance and care not to make himself a nuisance or act like a road-hog.

Then comes the question how can this "oscillation nuisance" be kept in hand, checked or prevented and, if need be, detected and punished? Unfortunately, a very large number of persons have very slight consideration for others when pursuing their own pleasure. Look, for instance, at the state of the parks after a Bank Holiday. It costs a large sum of money to clear them up after the public have had the use for a day which might all be avoided if everyone took care not to scatter paper or break bottles, but to put them in appointed receptacles. See also, how picnic parties recklessly disfigure the face of Nature, gather wantonly wild flowers, break down trees, defile streams, or leave litter. We impose penalties on anyone who pollutes the air we breathe by unnecessary smoke or deleterious vapours. We also prevent, by penalties, refuse matter being put into rivers or the sea because we have only one atmosphere common to us all and one sea or set of rivers.

In like manner, we have only one ether, and if we are all to enjoy the benefits of broadcasting, there must be certain good manners or polite use of the ether. The ill-mannered person who talks loudly in a theatre or concert room and so prevents others from enjoying the performance is soon brought to book by public opinion and made to understand that he must behave himself.

The same holds good for listening. There must be consideration for others as well as ourselves. The offenders are generally people with small practical knowledge of wireless work. They are sufficiently well-to-do to buy multi-valve receiving sets. They are, for the most part, not so anxious to enjoy musical performances as to try to

Dr. J. A. FLEMING.

THE name of Dr. Fleming is familiar to most of our readers as that of the original inventor of the thermionic valve, which in its improved and modernized form is the basis of all broadcasting as an essential element in the transmitter and in the majority of receivers.

Dr. Fleming is retiring at the end of July from the position of Professor of Electrical Engineering at University College, London, which he has held for forty-one years with great distinction. During his professoriate, more than 2,000 students have passed under his teaching. His contributions to scientific knowledge have been many and important. He was elected a Fellow of the Royal Society in 1892, and received in 1910 the Society's Gold and Silver Hughes Medals.

During the past fifty years he has been closely connected with the introduction into Great Britain of three great inventions, the Telephone, Electric Lighting, and Wireless Telegraphy.

pick up long distance or Continental stations. They have often poorly designed aerials and are, therefore, tempted to push their receiver to extremes to make it effective.

On the question of remedies, it is difficult to prescribe. It might be possible to register the possessors of reaction sets or to mark it on the licence, but it would be difficult to secure accuracy. Any very flagrant or repeated offender, when discovered, should have a warning that his General Post Office wireless licence may be cancelled, or a fine imposed.

Perhaps the best thing is to bring home to the public generally the full reasons for the trouble and the cure for it and to create a widely-spread feeling that it is not "playing the game" to allow one's set to oscillate knowingly or unknowingly. The number of deliberate sinners is, perhaps, small. For the most part, the offence is unconscious or unintended. Nevertheless, it is a serious drawback to the extension of broadcasting and, unless it can be checked and stopped, will greatly retard its progress.

Broadcast Humour.

By Percy Merriman, of "The Roosters."

THE broadcasting of humour is one of the most difficult problems with which the B.B.C. has to grapple, although, at first blush, it seems easy enough. The world is full of fun—much of it unintentional and unconscious—but most people differ fundamentally as to what is really amusing. One man's joke is another man's sorrow. Jock, the clown, will make the children rock with laughter; to their mothers and fathers he is often a weariness of the flesh. The double turn of Pit and Pat may cause the groundlings to split their sides, but the judicious will only grieve.

The microphone is a cold and deadly medium for the humorist who relies upon his facial pleasantries and comic costume and gesture. On the stage he revels in the quick responses to his sallies that come across the footlights. He seizes greedily upon the hundred and one manifestations that emerge from an audience's delight in him, and he is quick enough to take the topical chances as they come.

Nothing But a Voice.

Before the microphone, the comedian is nothing but a voice. In his vast audience, every listener is detached and casual, and his (or her) attention must be firmly caught and held. Any trivial home circumstance, the sudden memory of a household duty, the postman's knock, the open newspaper lying handy, anything may distract the listener's wandering fancy.

In the broadcasting studio the only possible humour is prepared humour. Spontaneous felicities are out of the question. The audience is so vast and so varied. The too-too-clever gibe may leave Mr. John Citizen cold. The too-too-solid jest will bore the Man with a Delicate Sense of Humour to tears.

There is abundant opportunity in this new medium for new humorists, but their appeal must be wide—and deep. The red nose, slipshod trousers and the winks and grins of the music-hall top-liner are useless, and jokes about mothers-in-law, odorous eggs and seaside landladies have little value for broadcasting in the year of grace 1926.

We may well be sorry for the unhappy broadcast entertainer. More than any other type of radio performer he is "up against it." The singer, the instrumentalist, the lecturer, the actor even—these do not suffer so much from the lack of a visible audience. But poor Ted Lamley has to abandon his grimaces, leave his funny hat at home, pay lots of money for his manuscript, cast his jokes on the grim and silent microphone and pray to heaven that at least his voice sounds funny.

Numbers That Quickly "Die."

It is all a question of material. And here again the entertainer meets with a further difficulty. When he has broadcast a new and original number, it becomes "dead" for some time. He may be able to repeat it some months later, but if shortly afterwards he attempts to use it as a private function, he is in danger of being told that "we heard that on the wireless the other night!"

There is no universal standard of humour. One can never be certain about a joke, never know whether it will "go." You may be immensely tickled by some whimsical idea, but when you tell it, you find yourself alone in a smileless world.

The humour that is fresh and kindly, that has in it a touch of humanity, that is full of tolerant, but keen, observation—the rapier blade of Mercutio, the buffoonery of Bottom, the dry philosophy of Touchstone, the rest of Falstaff, the whimsicality and charm of Lamb and Barrie—amid all these, the fun-maker who looks on humour as high art and as the best tonic that science has not invented, may win, somewhere among his invisible audience, the tribute of that wholesome hearty laughter that is his gay reward.

Official News and Radio Gossip.

Sir Landon Ronald and Mr. Jack Hylton.

THE last hour of the London programme on July 20th, will, it is hoped, take the form of a discussion between Sir Landon Ronald and Mr. Jack Hylton on the respective merits of popular classical music and jazz. Sir Landon will give illustrations with the aid of the Wireless Orchestra, and Mr. Hylton will have the services of his own band.

Lady Forbes-Robertson as Katharine of Aragon.

The last of the series of Shakespeare's Heroines will be presented from London and other Stations on Sunday, July 18th, when Lady Forbes-Robertson (Gertrude Elliott) will play Katharine of Aragon from Henry VIII. The evening transmission on that day will begin with a service in connection with the World's Christian Endeavour Convention, relayed from the Crystal Palace, when the address will be given by the Rev. Tom Sykes.

"Five Birds in a Cage."

A studio version of that well-known comedy, Five Birds in a Cage, by Gertrude Jennings, will be given from the London Station on Friday, July 23rd. This will be followed, between 8.30 and 9.30 and from 10 to 11 p.m., by a symphony concert, conducted by Dr. Adrian Boult.

A Recital by Hoffmann.

Between 9 and 9.30 p.m. on Wednesday, July 21st, listeners to the London Station will hear a recital of piano-forte music by Hoffmann, who is accepted as one of the greatest living pianists. Later, between 10.3 and 11 p.m., the programme will consist of another of the Unannounced Orchestral Series which have proved so popular in the past. The title and central theme of this programme will be "The Long Day Closes."

Military Band Music from Dover.

Music by the Band of the 1st Battalion, the King's Own Yorkshire Light Infantry, relayed from the Granville Gardens Pavilion, Dover, will constitute the London programme between 3.30 and 5 p.m. on Sunday, July 11th.

Variety at "2LO."

A variety programme of outstanding merit has been arranged for transmission from the London Station on Wednesday, July 14th, when among the "turns" will be Tex McLeod, the rope and yarn spinner, Edward Avis, one of the most famous bird mimics, Doris Bleach and Partner in syncopated numbers, and another appearance of Clapham and Dwyer, the cross-talk comedians, who have already made a successful appearance before the London Station microphone.

From the Royal College of Organists.

An organ recital by Mr. Thalben-Ball, organist of the famous Temple Church, London, is to be relayed from the Royal College of Organists, Kensington Gore, through the London Station, between 4 and 4.30 p.m. on Saturday, July 24th. The occasion is the distribution of diplomas, and Mr. Thalben-Ball will play a number of pieces selected for the January Diploma Examination in 1927, which makes the recital of considerable interest to intending candidates for that examination. The evening programme between 8 and 9 will be devoted to a service by Weston Drury entitled No Options.

Forthcoming Talks.

Here are brief details of some interesting forthcoming talks from the London Station: Wednesday, July 14th, the Rt. Hon. Lord Ashwith, K.C.B., on "Schoolboy 'Howlers,'" always an amusing subject; Thursday, July 15th, at 9.40 p.m., Mr. Hubert Henderson, Editor of The Nation, and Mr. Raymond Gram Swing, London Correspondent of the Philadelphia Ledger, will discuss our debt to America; at 7.40 on the same evening, four members of the National Union of Students' Imperial Debating Team will tell listeners of their experiences during a recent

A Recital by Albert Sammons.

For twenty-five minutes before the London Station goes over to the Savoy Hotel for dance music on Thursday, July 22nd, a violin recital will be given by Mr. Albert Sammons. Mr. Sammons will play one of those popular programmes in which he excels.

Organ Recitals During August.

A series of organ recitals by Mr. W. Herbert Hickox, Mus.Doc., F.R.C.O., Professor of the Organ, Guildhall School of Music, will be relayed from London Station between 12.30 and 1 p.m. on each Friday during August.

Birmingham's Cathedral Bells.

The bells of Birmingham Cathedral will be broadcast from the local station at 9 p.m. on Sunday, July 11th, after which, a service will be relayed from the Cathedral Church, the preacher being the Rev. Canon Guy Rogers, M.C.

Musical Comedy at Birmingham.

Birmingham Station is having a programme of pre-war musical comedy items at 8 o'clock on Monday, July 19th. The Station Orchestra, with the assistance of Miss Gertrude Davies (soprano) and Mr. Harold Howes (baritone), will give excerpts from such old favourites as The Arcadians and The Maid of the Mountains, while among the songs will be "Queen of My Heart" from Dorothy, and the duet "A Paradise for Two." By way of contrast, when the programme is resumed at 10.0, pieces from post-war musical comedy will be given, including Betty in Mayfair, Katy the Dancer, and songs from The Rose of Araby and The Street Singer.

Summer Comes to Manchester.

The spirit of summer is well reflected in the programmes for July and August arranged by the Manchester Station. There will be numerous outside relays from St. Anne's-on-Sea and Morecambe which will make a special appeal to out-of-door listeners. From the end of July, the Manchester Station will make a feature of Saturday afternoon concerts for those who like their loud speaker in the garden, and in addition to orchestral concerts from the West-end Bandstand, Morecambe, there will be studio performances which will include plenty of light music. This also applies to the Children's Hour from the Manchester Station during the summer months.

A "Battle" Programme.

As the special programme arranged by the Manchester Station for Thursday, July 1st, to commemorate the tenth anniversary of the Battle of the Somme had to be postponed for the relaying of the Canadian programme from London on that day, arrangements have now been made for Manchester to present its own "battle" programme of another war anniversary notable in the annals of that city.

Chamber Music at Manchester.

A programme of Chamber Music, contributed by a trio of well-known instrumentalists, Mr. Carl Fuchs (cellist), Mr. Pat Ryan (clarinet), and Miss Lucy Pierce (pianist), will be given from the Manchester Station on Sunday, July 18th. Mr. Frederic Collier (baritone) also appears with the trio in the same programme.

One of the most brilliant and challenging of modern painters, and for many years a show-centre in the world of modern art. On the evening of July 8th, at 9.40, he is to broadcast from "2LO" and all Stations his views—which are sure to be provocative—on the vexed question of "Art and the Public." This is Mr. John's first appearance before the microphone.

tour in Canada and Australasia; Saturday, July 17th, Mr. Clifford W. Collinson will give one of his popular travel talks, this time dealing with the fortified village; later, at 9.40, Captain Ian McLaren will talk on "Air Raids of the Future." Captain McLaren was for eighteen months a member of the Inter-Allied Aeronautical Commission of Control to Germany; Wednesday, July 21st, Mr. C. Leonard Woolley, who has already spoken on the subject of Ur and the Chaldees, and who has just returned to England, will describe the latest excavation work he has been carrying out; Thursday, July 22nd, Mr. Elliott O'Donnell is to give another talk, this time on "Sea Mysteries."

Our Channel Island Audience.

Jersey as a Listening-Post for Europe.

LONDON calling the British Isles," says the Announcer at "2LO," and instantly a thousand people and more, on one of the southernmost of these listening isles—beautiful Jersey—are all alert for the news that follows.

I have lately visited the Channel Islands, and being an ipso-fact radio "fan" I took pains to find out while I was there what the islanders think of wireless in general and of the B.B.C. in particular.

After a little inquiry, I made the acquaintance of another enthusiast, Mr. R. Binet by name, a keen amateur who took out the second wireless licence in Jersey five years ago when there was nothing to listen to but the Eiffel Tower. To-day, he estimates that there must be a thousand sets on the island of Jersey alone. If that number seems small in a population of some fifty thousand people, it must be remembered that a crystal set is of no value in the Channel Islands. One or two valves at least are necessary, for there is no broadcasting station near enough to furnish programmes for crystal sets.

Bournemouth the Favourite Station.

"What are the best stations for Jersey listeners?" I asked Mr. Binet.

"Dawentry, of course," he replied, "and then Bournemouth. We have very little success with Glasgow or Manchester, though we can get Newcastle all right, and Cardiff. And the new station at Dublin comes in well."

"But you listen to the Continent, too?"

"Oh, yes—Paris, Madrid, Rome, Berlin. Some of the Continental stations are very powerful. But Dawentry is stronger than Paris. I myself listen most to Paris and Berlin, because I like the French and German music best. But I think with most listeners on the island, Bournemouth is the favourite station."

Mr. Binet lives in St. Helier, and he invited me one evening to listen to his set. He tuned in to Dawentry. The lovely music of Les Misérables came through, rich and strong and moving and as clear as in the London theatre from which it was being relayed. I remarked on its beauty, and Mr. Binet recalled a recent Sunday service from Norwich Cathedral. "One of the best church relays I ever heard," he said.

Many Jersey farmers were shy of wireless at first; some were actually hostile to it. They thought it attracted lightning, and generally made for bad weather. But they are beginning to like it now, and to depend on it. Aerials are springing up all over the island.

Eager for the News Bulletin.

I soon discovered that the news bulletin is, perhaps, the most valued single item in the B.B.C.'s programme. And the reason is not far to seek. There is but one boat a day from England, and the boat train leaves London at 9.15 p.m., which is too early for the first edition of the morning papers. Jersey folk must, therefore, wait until Wednesday's boat comes in to see the Tuesday morning paper from London. The boat is due at St. Helier at 9.30 a.m., and it is often late in the afternoon before the paper reaches a farmer in the western end of the island. It is easy to understand, therefore, how it is that the news bulletin broadcast from Dawentry is now the event of the day in the wireless homes of these Channel Islanders.

But these islanders love music, too, and many of them told me that the concert programmes broadcast from the Bournemouth Station are their chief delight. It was touching to hear a Jersey farmer's wife who has never been to England in her life, declare how "homelike" the music from Bournemouth seemed to her to be. It made me realize that though the phrase "music is the universal language" has been a commonplace for a long time, it has never been so true as it is in these days of wireless magic.

There are six men on the island of Jersey who hold amateur transmitting licences for experimental purposes. They are all working on a wave-length of forty-five metres. I had an interesting talk with one of these experimenters, Mr. Fergus, who lives on a high hill overlooking St. Brelade's Bay. He is working with the Radio Research Board in an effort to eliminate "fading" and "blind spots," and he told me that he finds Jersey an ideal place for his work. "It is the radio centre of the world," he said, "at least, of the European world." The walls of Mr. Fergus's room are covered with cards he has received from listeners who have picked up his signals in every country in Europe.

Criticisms and Suggestions.

Of course, Morse is a great nuisance. What is what might be expected since these islands are right in the path of the great ships. But when I asked Mr. Binet about this he said he thought there should be no trouble from such interference if the sets were in right condition.

I asked everywhere for opinions of the B.B.C.'s programmes. Criticism was generally very favourable. Suggestions for improvements and fault-finding varied as usual according to individual taste. "They give us too much music," said some; others said, "too many talks." Among the suggestions were, "We want more artists like Harry Lauder"; "they ought to broadcast Parliament"; "the news is most important to us, we could do with more"; "we ought to have more high-power stations like Dawentry."

But the general opinion seems to be that "The B.B.C. gives us a fine ten shillings' worth."

C. EASTMAN.

WE understand that some of the wireless apparatus purchased during the recent General Strike is giving unsatisfactory service, with the result that many new listeners do not yet know how accurate and enjoyable broadcast reception can be. This is very much to be regretted, and we strongly advise all listeners who are dissatisfied with the quality of their reception to have their sets adjusted or altered by the makers or sellers so as to secure the perfect reproduction of speech and music which is now obtainable.

A Noted Violinist.

"Solloway," the eminent violinist, is to give a recital from the Manchester Station on Tuesday, July 13th.

The Good Old Days.

Listeners to the Manchester Station on Monday, July 19th, will be taken back to the good old days of the Merrie English folk dances. The programme on that evening will include many well-known old English airs by which, it is hoped, to give an impression of our ancestors in song and dance.

"The Eighties" at Manchester.

"The Eighties" reappear at Manchester on Monday, July 19th, not as a crew of men in a boat, but as a concert party of cheery artists in a third edition of their vocal and musical fare.

"The Island of Brigands and Vendettas."

Songs of Sicily will be sung by M. Silvio Sololi at the Manchester Station on Monday, July 19th, when the programme will include a talk on "Corsica: the Island of Brigands and Vendettas," by Major William Cross, F.R.G.S.

Songs from the Australian Bush.

Mr. Harold Williams, the well-known bass, is to give a recital of Australian Bush Songs at the Manchester Station on Wednesday, July 21st.

French Music at Newcastle.

Newcastle Station has arranged to broadcast a programme of French music on Wednesday, July 14th, when the vocal numbers will be sung by Miss Elinora Hoggarth (soprano) and Mr. John Turner (tenor), the latter a London artist who is making his first appearance at Newcastle. This will be followed by a bright and cheery concert by the "Vagabonds" Concert Party between 10 and 11 p.m.

Miss Licette at Newcastle.

Miss Marian Licette, the well-known soprano, is singing at the Newcastle Station during the programme on Friday, July 16th. Her items include "The Willow Song" and Ave Maria from Verdi's Othello. Violin solos will also be contributed during the same programme by Mr. Harold Fairbairn.

Bournemouth's Sunday Afternoon.

The many music lovers far outside the normal broadcast zone of the Bournemouth Station who frequently tune in to the Sunday afternoon concert, should not miss one which is being given on Sunday, July 11th, when items will be rendered by Mr. William Priurose, Mr. Rae Robertson and Mr. Roy Henderson. The former will play Brahms's Sonata for Violin and Piano in A Major, while Mr. Henderson is to give songs by Schubert, Grieg and Tchaikovsky, with orchestral accompaniment.

An Old Scottish Ballad.

The first broadcast performance of the orchestral ballad, "The Ship o' the Fiend," will be included in the programme from Bournemouth on Friday, July 16th. This old Scottish ballad has been given an orchestral setting by Hannish MacCunn and the poem itself will be spoken by Mrs. Robertson. The remainder of the programme consists of choral works, including the delightful London Cry by Edward Tschernacher and Herbert Oliver, and Elgar's Fraus the Bavarian Highlands, the words of which were written by Lady Elgar and are based on the folk songs of Bavaria and the songs of the Strolling Players who wander from village to village in the mountain valleys.

Song Talks at Bournemouth.

Miss L. Bradshaw may fairly claim to have made an original contribution to the wireless programmes by arranging a series of song talks to be given from Bournemouth on Wednesdays at 8 o'clock. For each of these song anthologies she has taken some special subject such as the sea, birds, or the East, so that listeners will know what songs have been inspired by these various themes. The first song talk takes place on Wednesday, July 14th, and will be on "Gardens."

PEOPLE YOU WILL HEAR THIS WEEK.

Miss SYLVIA MELIS, who will sing in "Rigoletto" at London, on Wednesday, July 7th (B.B. from other Stations).

Miss MADGE TITHERADGE, the popular actress, who will play "Katharine" in Shakespeare's "Taming of the Shrew" on Sunday, July 4th (B.B. from all Stations).

Miss ETHEL FENTON (Contralto) will be heard by Cardiff, Birmingham and Manchester H. Liners during the week.

Mr. LEONARD HUNT (Baritone) is to sing at Birmingham on Sunday, July 4th.

Miss JOSEPHINE TRUX, one of the famous Trux Sisters, will sing syndicated songs on Monday, July 5th (B.B. from other Stations).

Mr. LAWRENCE ANDERSON, the well-known actor, will broadcast selections from his repertoire on Monday, July 5th (B.B. from other Stations).

Mr. JOHN TURNER (Tenor) will sing at Cardiff, Birmingham and Manchester during the week.

Miss MARY ANNE SULLIVAN (Contralto) will broadcast from Newcastle on Sunday, July 4th.

Mr. FRANK SHIELD, who will give a talk from under the Thames on Monday, July 5th (B.B. from London and other Stations).

Listeners' Letters.

The Champion Radio Village?

[Listeners are reminded that we do not consider anonymous letters for publication. Preference is given to letters which contain interest and beauty. The Editorial address is Seven Wob, Strand, London, W.C.2.]

IN a little village called Stoke Dry, Rutland, there are twelve houses, and eleven of these have wireless sets. Surely, this is a record!—WRIGHT, Stoke Dry, Uppingham.

Is the parish of Wilcote, in Oxfordshire, every house has a wireless set. If this is not a record, it will take some beating.—LEONARD C. PIERCEY, Manor House, Wilcote.

IN Grafton Regis, Northants, there are twelve sets at work, ranging from the simple crystal set to four or five valve sets with loud speakers. The total number of inhabitants is only ninety-six.—THOS. SEYMOUR, Grafton Regis.

IN this village there are thirty-four occupied houses and twenty-two have wireless installations. I consider this a good record.—D. R. KNIGHTLEY, Herton, Northampton.

IN this little hamlet of Grange, near Wimborne, Dorset, there are twenty-seven houses, and out of these, fifteen are equipped with wireless.—(Miss) E. H. BOOKER, Grange, Wimborne, Dorset.

Shakespeare, As You Like It.

I WOULD like to express my deep appreciation of the series of Shakespeare's heroines which have been broadcast on Sunday afternoons. They have been beautifully rendered, and I have listened to them all with the greatest possible pleasure. I am looking forward with keen anticipation to those which are announced to follow, but I hope you will be able to make Shakespeare, in some form or other, a permanent weekly feature, at least. Unfortunately, as their interest is almost entirely psychological, Shakespeare's plays do not lend themselves to reproduction on the films; but, happily, one can hear his work to perfection by wireless, sitting comfortably with the book on one's knee.—WILLIAM SMITHARD, Cromwell Road, Derby.

Relays from Theatres.

Mrs. GEORGE GROSSMITH has stated that following a broadcast of excerpts from plays, many applications for seats are received from distant listeners, and that generally the booking is heavier, the inference being that this is due to the broadcast. I would suggest that where seats are booked in this way, the person booking should notify the box-office of the fact that the primary cause of booking is broadcasting. The idea of this, of course, is the usual "key" method of advertising. This should rapidly persuade the profession generally of the value of the broadcasting advertisement, and thus expedite the co-operation which must eventually exist—greatly to the advantage of the listeners.—"GKE," Stourbridge, Worcs.

Is Dance Music Overdone?

EVERY now and again, a letter is published in The Radio Times complaining that an excessive amount of dance music is broadcast. These letters give the impression that the broadcast programmes are robbed of "good" music to enable the dance music to be transmitted. It seems to me that the dance music that is broadcast is entirely out of the programme and is transmitted for dancing purposes and, if it was not "on," the Stations would be closed down. The amount of dance music broadcast during the programme time, i.e., from 8 p.m. to 10.30 p.m. is practically nil. No person wants to listen to a "concert" of any description lasting from 4 p.m. to midnight, even if he could choose every item and artist himself.—"GORDON SENSE," Festiniog.

In The Radio Times of June 18th, appears the question "Is Dance Music Overdone?" I say emphatically NO. Further, your correspondent states that dance music "is bound to pall after a time." He is absolutely wrong, for, apart from the large number of new tunes each week, I do not find that the old ones pall. I have listened by wireless and otherwise to dance music for an average of roughly two hours a day for the past four or five years.—C. V. HALFORD THOMSON, Tavistock, Devon.

"Who Stole the Diamonds?"

THE author of Wolf! Wolf! set a very difficult task when he asked his audience to discover the name of the thief who stole the diamonds, for they never were stolen! Certainly Lady Gatehouse removed the diamonds she was wearing, and these were the property of her husband, but her ladyship is not a thief. A wife cannot be guilty of larceny from her husband unless she wrongfully takes his property when leaving or deserting him. Lady Gatehouse was not leaving or deserting her husband, and therefore legally cannot be held to have stolen Sir George's diamonds.

Listeners who knew the law on the point, especially members of the legal profession, must have found it very difficult to give the answer necessary to win a prize!—"ONDO."

[THE ACTRESS replies: "As stated in the play, the diamonds were a family heirloom, and as such were held in trust for the heir. They cannot be disposed of without authority from the courts. Therefore, whoever is responsible for their disappearance may be regarded as the thief."]

"Quality, Not Quantity."

IT appears from Captain Eckersley's article in The Radio Times of June 11th—that in future only first-class receiving sets are to be catered for. That very large section of listeners—the impoverished middle class with their humble crystal sets—is to be ignored, in spite of the fact that they pay the same for their licences as the profiteer with his fifty-guinea set. What makes the matter worse is that Captain Eckersley's article seems to say in so many words: "We could give you the news as you had it during the strike, but we have said we won't and we won't, no matter how many may want it."—P. D. LEWIS, Surgeon-Commander R.N. (retired), Greenwich.

[Captain Eckersley replies: "First-class sets are not necessarily fifty-guinea sets. First-class sets are sets with a factor of safety, which involves, if expense is a serious consideration, the use of a really adequate aerial. We have only one idea in mind, that is to give a first-class service to all. If we admit distortion, even though it is not noticed now, we shall be prejudicing the future and the first-class (not fifty-guinea) set. Furthermore, if we allow distortion of speech where possibly some sets do not notice the distortions, we shall be blamed because the music, where distortions are more apparent on nearly all sets, is not so loud."]

POINTS FROM LETTERS.

DAVENTRY listeners have consistently begged for more band music. I suggest that when we get St. Hilda's, Feddon's, Beames, Wingate's, etc., at the North Country Stations, a relay to Daventry would be greatly appreciated in the Midlands.—"K.997801," Rugby.

I HOPE that whoever is responsible for the choice of the items in the B.B.C.'s programmes and for the constitution of the "2LO" Orchestra will never let a week pass without providing a symphony concert with a complete orchestra at least one evening in the week. It would be better if it could be made two evenings instead of only one.—REGINALD VAUGHAN, Moorgate, London, E.C.2.

BEETHOVEN'S OVERTURE IN C, OP. 154.

(NEWCASTLE, SUNDAY.)

BEETHOVEN wrote this Overture in 1822, for the opening of a new theatre in Vienna, on a day which was also the Emperor's birthday.

The name by which it is generally known is Die Weihe des Hauses (The Consecration of the House). His biographer, Schindler, told how Beethoven, while rooming with friends in the woods, walked apart for a while, and then showed them two themes for the Overture that he had jotted down in his sketch-book, saying that one might effectively be worked in his own style and one in that of Handel. Schindler advised him to choose the latter.

Of course, the Overture is pure Beethoven, not in any sense an imitation of Handel.

It is a dignified and brilliant piece, appropriate to the celebration of the two events which brought about its composition.

Its Introduction opens with a fine, broadly-sweeping tune on Flute and Oboe, accompanied by plucked Strings. It is repeated with fuller orchestration, and gives place to a fanfare of Trumpets and Bassoons. A vigorous episode concludes the Introduction, and leads to a Fugue on two subjects of Handelian cast.

The two themes are worked together in all kinds of ways, building up a splendid piece of exhilarating music. Just before the end of his manipulations of the Subjects he interpolates, after the Handelian manner, a bar in slow time, and then runs on into the long Coda that rounds off the work.

SOME AMERICAN MUSIC.

(CARDIFF, SUNDAY.)

America's most famous composer, EDWARD MACDOWELL, is represented in this programme by two favourite Piano Pieces.

VICTOR HERRBERT (born in 1859) is a grandson of the Irishman, Samuel Lover, who wrote "Handy Andy." He was for some years a leading "Cello" player. He has written nearly forty stage works, most of them light operas. He is represented here by his Irish Rhapsody.

GEORGE WHITEFIELD CHADWICK (born in 1854) is well known as a conductor. For several years he had charge of the big Choral and Orchestral Festivals which have been held at Worcester, Mass., since the 'sixties. Among his compositions, which are built on "classical" lines, are two Symphonies, some Overtures, Suites, a Symphony Ballad, Tam o' Shanter, and some choral works.

ARTHUR FOOTE is another representative of the older, more conservative type of American composer. He has written in almost all forms except that of operas. His Overture, In the Mountains, dates from 1887.

WALTER DAMROSCH has been for over forty years the conductor of the New York Symphony Orchestra, with which he toured Europe in 1920. His Opera, Cyrena de Bergerac, is founded on Rostand's drama. The Prelude to the Second Act represents Dr. Damrosch's music in this programme.

CHARLES WAKEFIELD CADMAN is of the younger School. He was born in 1881. He has found interest and inspiration in the music of the American Indians. His one-act Indian Opera, Shanewis, has been performed at the New York Metropolitan Opera. The group of Four Indian Songs formed the first fruits of this special study.

ETHELBERT NEVIN is the writer of The Rascals, and of light Piano Pieces.

ARTHUR F. NEVIN, his younger brother (born in 1871), has written an Indian Opera, Poia, which was produced in Berlin in 1910. From Midway Hills is a Tone Poem, inspired by the beauty of the district in Pennsylvania, in which he was born.

musicians who have had a business training. He was born in 1876, and entered his father's business (that of dealing in railway and steamship supplies) after leaving Harvard. He became Vice-President of Geo. B. Carpenter and Co. in 1900.

He describes his Concertino as "a light-hearted conversation between Piano and Orchestra—as between two friends who have travelled and become a little garrulous over their separate experiences. The conversation is mostly of rhythms—American, Oriental, and otherwise."

"In form, the Concertino is in three short Movements . . . the last two separated by an almost imperceptible pause."

Each movement is in simple song-form—a First Tune, a Second, and the First again.

His other piece to be broadcast is the Suite, Adventures in a Perambulator, a series of six impressions of life as seen through a baby's eyes. The titles of the sections are: 1. En Voiture. 2. The Policeman. 3. The Hurdy-Gurdy. 4. The Lark. 5. Dogs. 6. Dreams.

SAINT-SAENS' "ANIMALS' CARNIVAL."

(LUXEMBOURG, LONDON, AND DAVENTRY, MONDAY.)

This "Grand Zoological Fantasy" was written in 1886 as a joke, for a private concert. In it, Saint-Saëns gives musical portraits of fish, flesh, and fowl, and indulges in ironical wit, in a little satire upon the human animal.

For some reason he insisted that the work as a whole should not be published until after his death. One Movement escaped this ban, and became extremely popular—the charming 'Cello solo entitled The Swan.

The music is piquantly scored for Strings, two Pianos, Flute, Piccolo, Clarinet, Xylophone, and Harmonica (an instrument consisting of metal plates, struck with hammers).

1. Introduction and Royal Lion's March.—An amusingly grandiose circus-entry, with very effective roars from His Majesty.
2. Hens and Cocks. Pianos and Strings, with Clarinet. The fiddle's "cock-a-doodle-doo" is very life-like.
3. Hemion (Swift Animals). Wild asses caper about all over the keyboards.
4. Tortoise. A well-known, lively tune from Offenbach's Orpheus is played extremely slowly, with comical effect.
5. The Elephant. The Double Bass (or, in another version, the Tuba) treats in a lumbering fashion a measure from the Ballet of Sylphs in Berlioz's Fant.
6. Kangaroos. Agile skips on the Pianos.
7. Aquarium. An impression of the lithe darts and flashes of fish. The Piano, in arpeggios, and the Harmonica, suggest the undulating, shimmering surface of the water.
8. Long-eared Perennopores. Two Violins imitate the mournful brays of donkeys.
9. The Cuckoo in the Depths of the Wood. The Clarinet gives the bird's familiar call, against a background of Piano tone.
10. The Aviary. Pianos and Flute imitate various bird notes, while Strings, trembling, suggest the flutter of wings. The cuckoo is heard again, at the end of the Movement.
11. Pinnacles. These weird beings play finger-exercises, after the fashion of the child next door, from whose early fumbblings we have all suffered.
12. Fossils. Bits of well-worn French tunes are scattered about. The inclusion of the dance of skeletons, from Saint-Saëns' Dance Macabre, is a happy touch.
13. The Swan. A graceful tune for solo 'Cello, accompanied by the two Pianos. The melody's outline, on paper, is curiously like the curves of a swan.
14. Finale. A brilliant display by all hands, to wind up.

The Children's Corner.

In 'Holiday Mood.

SARK is the most glorious place, and Auntie Geraldine, of London, seems to be enjoying every moment of her visit there. She has sent warm greetings to all nieces and nephews, and hopes that they are going to get as good a holiday as she is having. Uncle Rex sends the same kind of message from Devonshire. He has gone to a particularly pretty spot, which is one of his favourite haunts, and is finding everything well up to his expectations. He, too, wishes to be remembered to everybody.

Something For Everybody.

Next week's programme from London has various things, which we hope will be found interesting. It is, of course, impossible for every single item to please every single child, because the ages and tastes are so different, but a glance through the programme in any week will show that we try to include things of many different sorts, so as to provide for everybody to the best of our ability. Will you note once more that it helps tremendously in planning programmes if we know what items are most popular? That is where the Radio Circle members can help with their monthly letters.

On Tuesday, we have the first of a new series of six stories by Mr. E. Le Breton Martin. Following his "Larry-all-alone," we have a set of Circus Stories written specially for you. The hero is a youth named Sandy Strong-i-th-Arm, and his adventures are quite thrilling.

On Wednesday, there is Mr. William Jewell's fourth "Nature's Workshop" talk. He has already given some very useful hints on the study of bird-life, flowers, and butterfly. This time, he is going to deal with "beasties"—taking as his example the harvest-mouse, which, he says, is one of the most delightful creatures to study.

Of all the amusing stories which Miss Olwen Bowen has written for our enjoyment, none are more popular than those about "Hepzibah Hen." On Thursday, Hepzibah is to have a thrilling adventure, from which she only just escapes.

On Friday, the Wicked Uncle is to go swimming. Goodness only knows what may happen on that occasion! Doubtless, he will give a talk on the subject of what he calls "the principles of natation"—he won't say "swimming," as you or I would—and it is understood that he intends to explain how he proposes to cross the Channel in record time.

Saturday is "Play Day." This time we are to have a specially written story called "The Shadow of the Guillotine," which, as you will guess at once, deals with the French Revolution. All those who write to us about the programmes seem to like the plays, and we hope that this will be no exception to the general rule.

A Pixie in Australia.

We hope that members of the Birmingham Radio Circle and Pixie League have not forgotten one of their fellow members whose home is now in Kilkivan, in Australia. We have had several interesting letters from her in the past, and have just received another. She says that she is pleased to hear that we like her letters. She longs for a game of snow-balling, but there is never any snow in Queensland.

Instead of snow at Christmas time, they have beautiful sunshine, and beautiful flowers. Instead of decorating their rooms with holly at Christmas, they use white roses and Christmas lilies arranged with all sorts of pretty ferns. But they have the same Christmas pudding, which, it may be stated, is made in Birmingham.

At the end of her letter she says, "I shall be thirteen to-morrow (May 3rd), and I feel I am growing up fast." We feel sure that all members of the Pixie League will be glad that they are well remembered by a sister Pixie, though so far away. We shall all wish her "many happy returns of the day" and every success.

"To Introduce Miss Gobbie-Eff."

So read the card in a huge box of turkish delight which appeared at the Aberdeen Station a few days ago. Miss Gobbie-Eff was also inside the box, and wasn't she having a splendid time! She sometimes lives in tiffin boxes, but turkish delight boxes are her real home! Her true name is Rose-Petal Gorjoun, but Uncle Don declared, after seeing her eat one meal, that the only fit name for her was Gobbie-Eff. She can do other things but eat, all the same! It was she who took the Aunties to a very delightful menagerie one Wednesday lately and she rescued the Uncles from their fight with the lobster battalion when they went to the seaside for their annual picnic. We have heard rumours that she intends to visit the Studio on July 7th, and that she has some real tricks up her sugary sleeves. Poor Uncles!—but be sure to listen for her, for she is a merry little person.

UNCLE PETER MAKES A HIT.

Dog and Cat Show at Leeds.

Most of you have been listening to Uncle John's talks from Leeds every Monday on Pets. It is a feature which was started about two months ago, and is rapidly becoming very popular. If any of you want to know anything about your pets, write to Uncle John and he will tell you what you want to know.

All members of the Radio Circle are naturally fond of animals, and, of course, you all take a great pride in your own particular pets. Now, we have decided to hold two Dog and Cat Shows in the Gibraltar Barracks, Claypit Lane, Leeds, on July 24th, and the Belle Vue Barracks, Manningham Lane, Bradford, on July 28th, both to begin at 6.15 p.m. The entrance fee is 1s. for the first animal, and 6d. for every additional animal. Don't be shy of entering your animal because he is a mongrel. What we want you to do is to bring it along, whatever it may be. Full particulars are being announced over the microphone, and entrance forms can be obtained at the Leeds Station Offices. The closing date is July 17th, so hurry up with your entries.

Dundee Busy!

There has been a big rush of applicants for copies of the picnic photographs taken at Monikie last month. The prints are beautifully clear and no small thanks are due to Cousin Norman, who ducked under the camera cloth in real professional fashion after telling everyone to "watch the wee bird!" The pictures are being sold for the purpose of augmenting the Hospital Fund.

Our Point of View.

From the Yukon to the Nile.

FAR-AWAY listeners to our British programmes have been writing to The Radio Times with increasing frequency of late telling of the good reception they are getting, and of their keen enjoyment of the programmes.

These always-welcome letters reveal in dramatic fashion the vast range and extent of the invisible audience that listens every day to what goes on before the microphones on Savoy Hill.

Lately two letters have come to the Editor's desk from what may be described as the outskirts of our vast auditorium. These letters are so remarkable that they deserve quotation here. The first comes from a listener in far-off Alaska—a member of the Church of England Mission there. He writes—

"You will doubtless be interested to hear that at this somewhat isolated spot we have had the pleasure of listening to your broadcasting station in London. Yesterday, at about 9 p.m. Greenwich time, while tuning in on our receiving set we were somewhat startled to hear the words 'London Calling,' and when the voice proceeded to give us the weather forecast for England, Wales and Scotland, we realised that we were listening to the Motherland. We are situated on the Arctic Coast about sixty miles east of Herschel Island, which in turn is about fifty miles east of the Alaska-Yukon boundary line. We are still in the throes of the Arctic night, not having seen the sun for a period of nearly two months, but before the week has rolled by we hope to see his smiling face again.

"Our receiving set comprises the so-called super-heterodyne circuit having six pea-nut vacuum tubes or valves, with an additional tube for operating the loud speaker. The set was presented to this Mission by the Anglican Young People's Association of the City of Toronto. This Mission is in the Diocese of Yukon, and our work is among the Eskimo people who are scattered along this part of the Arctic Coast.

"We wish you every success and are looking forward to hearing '2LO' frequently, now that we realise such a thing is possible."—Rev. W. A. GIBBES.

The second letter comes from a reader in Upper Egypt—

"I have from time to time written to you recording the excellent reception we get here of your concerts, etc., when conditions are favourable. It may interest you to learn that during the past winter we have been able to hear perfectly clearly the time-signal and morning concerts from 11 a.m. onwards. Reception was even better than at night, though not so strong, there being practically no atmospheric during the day.

"I was always under the impression that during the hot weather here even night reception would be almost impossible. To-day, however, with the local shade temperature at 90° Fahr., we have received the organ recital and lecture broadcast from Chester perfectly clearly, indeed, as clear as anything we have hitherto heard. My set is an Anglo-American Six and for daylight reception I generally use five or six valves with phones."—H. W. CALLENDER.

Our correspondent adds: "It would interest me greatly to know the longest distance at which your morning concerts have been picked up in broad daylight and at what period of the year." We are glad to give publicity to this request and cordially invite our readers in far-off corners of the earth to send us an account of their reception of our programmes.

HAVE YOU GOT YOUR BOOK OF WORDS?

DURING the past few weeks, notices have appeared in these pages giving particulars of the subscription scheme by which listeners may obtain in advance copies of the book of words of each of the operas which are to be broadcast during the next twelve months.

We have been led to undertake this development of our programme service by the insistent requests that have come from listeners everywhere for information as to how and where these opera libretti are to be obtained. To meet this widespread demand and so add to the value and pleasure of these opera broadcasts, we have arranged for the publication during the coming months of specially prepared libretti of the twelve operas that are to appear in our programmes.

Listeners can make sure of obtaining copies of these booklets in two ways, either by sending us a postal order for two shillings to cover the cost of the whole series, or two penny stamps to pay for the mailing of a single copy of any one particular libretto.

We advise our readers to make an early application for these booklets, as experience has taught us that in the last minute rush of orders it is extremely difficult to cope with the demand and to dispatch all the copies required within the time limit.

We print below a coupon to facilitate application.

Gossip from Our Scottish Stations.

A Powerful Play.

A ONE-ACT play by C. Stewart Black, entitled Chas elard, will be included in a Scottish programme from Edinburgh on Wednesday, July 14th. This play is founded on a little-known incident in the unhappy career of Mary Queen of Scots, and although not written for the purpose, it lends itself well to broadcasting, having great dramatic power which does not depend to any considerable extent on mere action. Miss Margaret F. Stewart (soprano), Miss Nancy Shaw (reciter), and Mr. Neil Orr's Edinburgh Gaelic Choir will also contribute items to the programme.

From St. Guthbert's, Edinburgh.

The Rev. G. F. MacLeod, M.C., B.A., is to be the preacher at the monthly broadcast service from St. Guthbert's Parish Church, Edinburgh, relayed through the local station, on Sunday, July 11th.

A Talk on Athletics.

All Scottish stations will broadcast a talk on "Athletics" which Mr. George Hume is giving from the Edinburgh Station at 7.40 p.m. on Saturday, July 17th.

A Holiday Programme.

A special Fair Holiday programme, which will include well-known Scottish numbers and one or two of the ever popular waltzes by Johann Strauss played by the Station Orchestra, and items by Mr. Foden Williams, the well-known entertainer, who has been specially engaged for the occasion, will be given from Glasgow on Saturday, July 17th. This programme will, it is hoped, give a fitting send-off for the festivities arranged for the following week.

A Quartet New to Glasgow.

A popular programme by the well-known Scottish Co-operative Wholesale Society's Price Band will be broadcast from the Glasgow Station on Friday, July 16th. On the same evening, the Corgi Male Voice Quartet, who are new to Glasgow Station, will sing some ballads, madrigals, and humorous glees.

Military Bands and Concert Parties.

Arrangements have been made with the Glasgow Corporation for the local station to broadcast a series of performances by well-known military bands and concert parties from Kelvingrove Park during the summer months. These entertainments will be given on Sundays and week-days. Full details as to the dates and times will be published in The Radio Times, and the first of these entertainments will be broadcast during the Fair Week.

A Popular Preacher.

The acoustic properties of some places of worship are not always ideal for broadcasting, but the Aberdeen Station engineers have succeeded, after much experimenting, in getting the transmissions from the West United Free Church to a condition of excellence. A service at which the Rev. James K. Thomson, M.A., the popular minister of East and Belmont Street United Free Church, will occupy the pulpit, will be relayed from the West United Free Church, on Sunday, July 11th.

Light Fare at Aberdeen.

A varied programme of a light nature has been arranged by the Aberdeen Station for Friday, July 16th, when Miss Vivienne Chatterton will be the artist. Later, Miss Ethel Stanley will sing in a short concert with the Orchestra.

Old Favourites.

A programme of Old Favourites in music and song, when the vocalists will be Miss Gladys Palmer and Mr. John Turner, will be broadcast from Aberdeen on Tuesday evening, July 13th, following a ballad and instrumental concert. Mr. Turner is a newcomer to the Aberdeen Station.

1. "The Cross Roads," by Robert Mugill.

At a corner in the suburbs of London where four streets cross,
Herbert meets his friend George,
who is riding a motor-cycle.
George stops as Herbert calls to him.

2. "Birds of a Feather,"
In a bachelor's sitting room, Montague Montmerency and his friend, Percy Tuffo, are discussing the former's unfortunate engagement with Poppy Vavasour, a somewhat gay young lady.

3. "The Fatal Flew."
In a poorly-furnished sitting-room we find Fred Ballance, a married man with three young children; his wife, Irene, has just recovered from a serious illness. Fred is bending over some blue print plans which are spread out upon the table.
Irene comes in and questions him about them.

4. "Dinner for Six."
In a small country cottage which has been lent to them, Laura Robinson is consulting the pages of a cookery book while she awaits the arrival of her husband, Edward, who has gone down to the village grocer to endeavour to procure some necessaries on tick.

Two Song Cycles

THE first of two song cycles will be given at Bournemouth on Monday, when Haydn Wood's Play Time, described as a cycle of nursery rhymes, and The Wreck and the Carpenter, by Pedro de Zulueta, are to be given. The latter should be of special interest to all lovers of Lewis Carroll.

On Tuesday, Bournemouth listeners will hear two of our most notable vocalists, Miss Beatrice Evevine (soprano) and Miss Gertrude Johnson (contralto). Miss Gertrude Johnson was born in Molbourne, and studied singing under Mr. B. She took part in the first opera ever broadcast in this country. On Tuesday she is to give a delightful group of modern English songs. Miss Beatrice Evevine is to play, among other things, the piano part in the PLYMOUTH NEWS.

THE Studio services on Sunday evening will be the first occasion on which the choir of the Wesley Church, Plymouth, will lead. An address will be given by the Rev. F. Noel Cooke, pastor of that church.

On Monday afternoon Mr. Douglas M. Durston, A.R.C.S., L.R.A.M., will continue a series of talks on various musicians who have not been so generally dealt with as some of the more classical composers. The present talk will deal with W. A. Mozart.

Other talks for the week will include one on Wednesday afternoon by Mr. H. G. Taylor on "The West Coast Road and Lane," and one on Thursday evening by Mr. Douglas M. Durston on "The West Coast Road and Lane." These speakers, both of whom are experienced amateur fishermen, can offer many valuable hints to all lovers of this sport. The same evening listeners will again hear Miss Phyllis Vivian on the "Peasants of Andalusia," that fascinating Province of Spain.

The first hour of the evening programme on Tuesday—"Julykus," is devoted to a Naval and Military Review of Nautical Notes and Notices, blended with Military Music and Music. It will be presented by Mr. Fred Cameron and the Radio Chorus and Station Orchestra will take part. All the items are closely connected with the Army and the Navy, and two appropriate short sketches have been included.

GLASGOW NEWS.

With July opens, the holiday season may be said to be well under way, and listeners will appreciate light and entertaining programmes while they sit in the evening on the balcony or in the garden. So today, July 4th, as everyone knows, is a day of remembrance in the U.S.A. being the anniversary of the Declaration of Independence, 150 years ago, and the American programme which has been compiled by the London Station could prove of particular interest to listeners in Scotland. An evening contrast will be supplied by Sandler's Orchestra, relayed from the Grand Hotel, Eastbourne. Mr. Reginald Whitehead, the well-known Manchester bass, will be heard from the Glasgow Station on Monday evening in two groups of popular

The Station Orchestra, under the baton of Mr. Isaac Losowsky, will also take part in the programme, their duties de semaine being the Enthalsh Folk-Song Suite by Vaughan Williams, a charming work based on old English melodies. The Orchestra will also play a selection of melodies from Moussorgsky's famous opera, Boris Godunov. The programme is a well-balanced one, particularly in fresh varieties, and it was not until 1923 that the reprint of the original edition appeared in London.

The Black Dyke Mills Band, under the conductors of Mr. Arthur Pearce, will visit Glasgow on Friday, and play a number of excerpts from their repertoire, including selections from Later Time and Merric Royland, and the popular Fantastic Echoes of Scotland. Attention should be drawn also to a humorous item, played by two members of the band, entitled Sandy's Frolics. During the evening, Mr. Tommy Handley, the well-known Radio Revue comedian, will contribute further humorous items.

Two popular Glasgow artists will be heard from the Grand Studio on Tuesday, namely Miss Grace Davidson (contralto) and Mr. F. Elliot Dolan (bass-baritone). The former will sing one or two operatic arias to the accompaniment of the Station Orchestra, in addition to some less exacting songs with pianoforte accompaniment, while the latter will sing some request numbers, including the Forenoon Song from Carmen, and the vocal tour de force, "Largely Portentous" from The Barber of Seville. The Orchestra will be heard in Schubert's Symphony in G from Rosamunde and the "Gypsy Chorus" from Pierrot.

A. STROM programme of good music will be broadcast from Aberdeen on Monday by the Cinaphone Trio, Miss Rene Blackie and the Station Orchestra. Miss Blackie's contribution to the programme will consist of two groups of scenes for soprano and orchestra, the first group being Les Cloches de Corneville, Die Lorelei, Sir Laundon Rounald's Adonais, and a recitative and aria Adieu, Fédora, from Tchaikovsky's opera Queen of Spades, written in the early part of 1879.

From 10 to 10.30 p.m. on the same evening the second number of A Musical Linnace will be broadcast. This is in the nature of a competition in which the answers to questions by the announcer are supplied by the Orchestra playing well known pieces. Listeners are asked to send in the name of the items played, and a score of 100 points will be awarded to the first drawn correct solution. The nature of the questions and answers may be judged by the word Prevent this!

Bad teeth may cause crippling Rheumatism

Science has proved bad teeth can be directly responsible for rheumatism, melancholia and other serious ailments.

Your doctor or your dentist will tell you that many of the world's dread diseases have been traced to bad teeth and that life itself can be endangered.

You must take care of your teeth if you would safeguard yourself against the distressing maladies bad teeth can cause. Brush your teeth with Colgate's Ribbon Dental Cream. Colgate's neutralises the acids that attack the teeth.

Colgate's removes the causes of tooth decay. Colgate's contains no harsh substances, no dangerous drugs. It is safe and pleasant to use. It contains everything essential to cleanse and protect the teeth.

THE LONG-LIFE BATTERY

THE Loud Speaker Installation being erected by the Marconiphone Company for the Royal Air Force Display at Hendon on July 3rd, is the largest of its kind hitherto attempted.

No fewer than twenty-six Loud Speakers will be used, and the batteries operating them, both high and low tension, are all standard Exide, as supplied to the public.

There are thirteen banks of High Tension Batteries, each of 350 volts, and the unit used is the well-known as expressly designed for ordinary Broadcast reception.

All the three recent North Polar Expeditions, including Captain Amundsen's on the "NORGE," were also equipped with Exide batteries.

Similar EXIDE batteries are obtainable from all reputable dealers for either Car or Wireless work.

- Is supported by 5 strong but resilient hooks.
- Cannot be broken except by the very roughest handling.
- Has up to 5½ times greater emission surface.
- Requires only one-tenth ampere.
- Has the abundant flow of electrons entirely controlled.
- Remains ductile even after 1,000 hours life.
- Wastes no heat by glowing.
- Is free from microphonic noises.
- Gives majestic volume.

THE MASTER VALVE

Like the full-toned the notes of the Organ

THERE is a fullness and quality of tone about the C2 Loud Speaker which place it far and away above ordinary standards of wireless reproduction. It is more than a reproducer; it is a musical instrument in itself, designed and made like the organ for the production of harmonious sounds.

Listening to a C2 Loud Speaker is like listening at close quarters to the music that is being transmitted. There is no impression of distance or of intermediate operations. The artist or orchestra is in the room with you, playing for your personal delight.

Please make a point of hearing the C2 before deciding what make to buy. You will almost certainly buy the C2, and will quite certainly enjoy the hearing.

You'll find the Brown in Holland, too.

HAVE you ever thought, while listening to the evening's broadcast, that millions of people throughout the five continents of the world are listening too? It is natural, though, that wherever Radio is known you will find that people of every nationality are listening with a Brown.

The first Loud Speaker ever to be used in this country for Wireless purposes was a Brown. Now its fame has spread and the broadcasting of countless tongues is being continually and faithfully rendered by Brown Loud Speakers and Headphones. For Dutchman, African, Indian and Italian—all appreciate the unusual purity of its tone and its remarkable volume. There is naturally a very sound reason for such world-wide popularity: the years that have been spent in evolving the Brown now bear fruit in its universal demand, and Englishman and foreigner alike prefer an instrument upon which they can rely. The unique Brown principles of construction and the rigid standard of workmanship insisted upon in the manufacture of each individual instrument are not in vain: for only by such scrupulous and conscientious principles in manufacture does the Brown retain the leadership it gained. Wherever you are, if you want to know the pleasures of Radio to the full—hear the Brown Loud Speaker.

IN PRIZES For Listeners!

WHAT would YOU do?

That is the question you will be asked next Tuesday (July 6th) when a series of short, tense, keenly interesting problem plays will be broadcast from London.

These plays—there will be four in all—have been chosen by the Editor of PEARSON'S WEEKLY. Each leaves the chief character confronted with a problem. Listeners are invited to suggest a line of action and give their reasons.

Four prizes of £25 will be awarded to the listeners from whom the Editor of PEARSON'S WEEKLY receives what he considers the best solution in each case. You may win one, two, three, or all four prizes.

Make a note of the day and time of the broadcast.

"STAND AND DELIVER!"

—the command of the Highwayman—yes, and the valuables delivered were well worth having. Now, we deliver SIX-SIXTY VALVES, and if you value really good reception, they too are well worth having. With these perfectly designed valves, the delicate gradations of music are reproduced in all their original beauty, while the remarkably clear reproduction of speech is a proof of the real contribution which Six-Sixty Valves have made to modern radio science.

Take the S.S.3 L.F. (green disc), for small or medium-sized Loud Speakers. This 3-volt Valve consumes only '06 amps. filament current—which in itself means a big economy in accumulator re-charging—and in addition works at such a low temperature that the life of the filament is immeasurably increased. The S.S.3 (red disc) gives excellent results both as an H.F. amplifier and as a detector. Owing to the low current consumption of both types, dry cells may be used.

Then for a real Power Valve—the S.S.7 has no equal. It is absolutely non-microphonic, and when operating at the correct voltage there is no glow whatever from the filament. This valve consumes only '1 amps. filament current, and combines remarkable volume with unequalled purity of tone.

Six-Sixty Valves are recommended by all the leading Wireless Journals of to-day.

SIX-SIXTY VALVES

Better by Six times Sixty

The Electren Co., Ltd., Triumph House, 189, Regent Street, London, W.1.

Co-axial Mounting

The new Constructional System which ensures (a) longer life (b) lower running costs and (c) greater uniformity in results. Used for the first time in this wonderful new Cossor Dull Emitter.

FOUR years ago Cossor astonished the Radio world by evolving a method of valve construction which, for the first time, utilised almost the whole of the electron stream. Two years later this success was followed up by the introduction of a unique triple-coated filament which operated at a phenomenally low temperature.

And now Cossor—in introducing the new Cossor Point One—demonstrates that the same spirit of progress which has always dominated its activities is as vigorous as ever.

Why valves vary in performance

It is well known that if a batch of valves were made up using identical filaments, grids and anodes without due regard being paid to the accurate spacing of the elements that every valve would vary considerably in results. There would be hardly two alike. Any variation of distance between filament and grid or between grid and anode exercises considerable influence upon performance. All elements must be mounted co-axially to obtain the best results and any method which guarantees this must result in an incomparably higher standard of efficiency.

In the new Cossor Point One there is at last available a patented system of mounting which infallibly aligns the filament, grid and anode from top to bottom.

How Co-axial Mounting is achieved

Owing to the peculiar advantages possessed by the shape of the Cossor grid and anode it has been found possible to secure these two elements together at the top by means of a sapphire insulator. The grid itself ends in two prongs which are inserted into the base of the sapphire insulator. The anode rests on a wide flange provided, and is welded at its base to two stout metal supports. Even extreme force cannot disturb the exact relative positions of these two elements—once fixed in their places, to a hundredth part of an inch, they are there for all time.

The new Shockproof Filament Suspension System

Through the centre of the sapphire tube runs a fine wire which holds the filament in its correct position. Unlike other valves the filament in the Cossor Point One is not held under tension. Its shockproof support provides exactly the degree of elasticity to enable it to absorb the sharp concussion caused by an accidental blow. A knock which would shatter the filament in an ordinary valve is rendered harmless by this amazingly efficient suspension.

Greater uniformity and economy

Thus with the filament, grid and anode in permanent alignment it is reasonable to expect a greater uniformity in results. The supreme importance of this will be instantly appreciated by users of Neutrodyne Receivers employing several stages of matched H.F. amplification.

But in addition this new valve is exceptionally economical. Its triple coated filament consumes only one-tenth of an ampere at 1.8 volts. A super-neutrodyne using 7 of them would actually consume less current than a little one-valve set with a single bright emitter.

Bearing in mind, too, the fact that this filament operates at a glow which is practically invisible, it will be obvious that at last wireless enthusiasts have available a valve which must give an incredibly long and uniform service.
